I understand that when an opening for my child becomes available, Bloomington Center for Global Children will attempt to contact me by email. If I cannot be reached or if I do not respond to the notification by the end of the third business day starting from the day of contact, I agree that BCGC staff will move to contact the next name on the waiting list. I also agree that if the email address where I can be reached changes, it is my responsibility to contact BCGC with that information. I understand that this application in no way guarantees my child a position at BCGC.
